

Our skill set. Your aerosol solution.

Understanding. Developing. Producing.
Installing. Servicing.

Pamasol systematically sets out to create the best solutions for its customers. In fact, we have been a pioneer of innovative standards in the aerosol industry for the last 50 years. We provide expert support and know-how for companies seeking to develop their full potential in aerosol and spray systems. Worldwide.

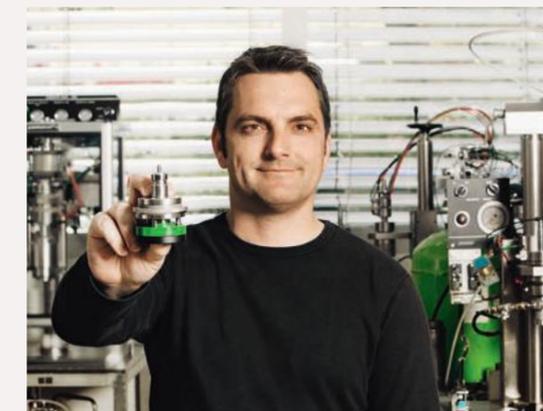

Thanks to our many years' experience, we understand our customers' requirements precisely.

Only a company that understands industries and their needs can offer integrated solutions. Our customers around the world operate in a wide variety of industries and range in size from global corporations to small, highly specialised laboratories. We use our many years' experience and our profound industry knowledge to our customers' advantage: thanks to our extensive expertise, we can understand and overcome every aerosol challenge that our customers give us.

We develop innovative technologies because we are fascinated by them and because we are passionate about them.

Every Pamasol product is unique since it is developed with and for our customers. From small filling machines to complete production lines. Individually developed for each customer. In the search for the perfect solution, we conquer complex technological challenges and reach the pinnacle of invention. Pamasol relies on 50 years of innovative power, passion, and the expertise of all of our employees.

For 50 years, we have produced everything ourselves in the Swiss town of Pfäffikon.

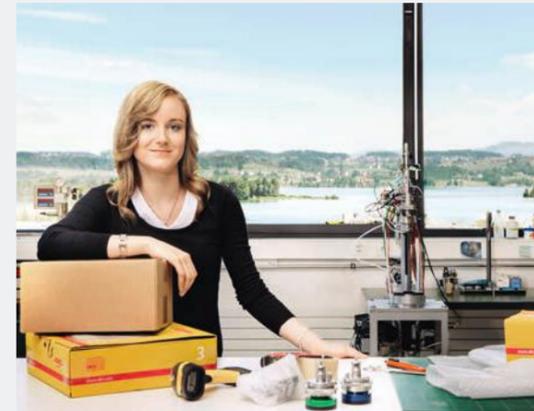

Pamasol produces high-quality Swiss products, for we produce nearly everything ourself in high-quality production facilities in Pfäffikon, from crimp heads to name plates. From electrical controllers to all of the software. From manual machines to the highest-capacity systems capable of producing up to 600 cans per minute. The constant pursuit of quality Swiss work has made us a technology leader. The result is precise and economical systems that will last for many years.

We do not just produce machines; on request, we will install everything on-site.

Pamasol develops and produces machines for customers around the world. In order that production will go smoothly for our customers, we will install and start up any machine on-site if required and provide training for customers' staff. We do all of this with the same care that we take to develop and produce our machinery.

We support our customers extensively, with quick service and expert advice.

We know only one standard: Swiss perfection. This is also the standard we adhere to when supporting our customers. We know the kind of losses that stopped production can bring. This is why we provide spare parts from our warehouse as quickly as possible, even for systems that have been in use for decades. In case of our customers' new challenges and needs, we check and optimize processes and systems. For we do not simply sell systems; we guarantee the long-term success of customers' investments.

Our solutions make any aerosol or spray system wish come true. From individual stations to complete production systems.

Thanks to our systems' modular structure, they can be adapted flexibly and quickly to new needs. Systems that are already in operation can be adapted easily to changing conditions. For our customers, this means investment security and the certainty that they will be well-equipped for new challenges and goals. We offer a wide range of systems, from single stations to cycled production, to rotating models for high output of up to 600 cans per minute. Our product line also includes extensive range of related machinery and equipment.
